

Undersea-Aged Champagne

Muse de Marée

BRAND BOOK

Made by a maison, aged by the sea, proven by the record.

DEFINITION

A Brand That Records the Time of the Sea

Champagne was made in Champagne. What comes after is made by the sea.
We do one thing.
Watch, record, and pass each bottle on with its record.

WHY THE SEA

What the Sea Already Holds

The conditions on the seabed were not designed. They are simply there.

Darkness and cold can be engineered.

In the sea off Namhae, Korea, they occur on their own, and the current comes with them.

The current shifts with the seasons, and we record it every day.

MUSE DE MARÉE

Atomes Crochus

Years in the cellar, then twelve months at sea.

Mignon Boulard made this champagne and aged it for years in its own cellars. Then came twelve months immersed at 30 m off Namhae. Across four seasons the sea was measured every day, and that record travels with the bottle.

THE RECORD IS THE HERITAGE

Proof by Measurement

From immersion to recovery, every day in between is on record.

The great champagne houses vouch for their years by name.

We began with a record, from day one.

Since winter 2023 we have recorded water temperature and current off Namhae every day, without exception.

In twenty years, today's record will be history.

A Record That Opens at a Touch

Every bottle carries its own number.

The number is stored in an NFC chip inside the label. Hold your phone to the label and eight readings open, water temperature and current among them. Register your name and a Certificate of Provenance is issued under that number, verified against the original tag.

From Champagne to Namhae

A house in the same village for more than a century.

Mignon Boulard grows the grapes and makes the champagne.

From there, the bottles travel to Namhae, Korea.

All we add is the time that comes after.

MUSE DE MARÉE

The moment of recovery, twelve months on.

Next Year's Allocation

One release a year. No more.

The sea decides the quantity. What surfaces is the whole of that year's release.

The bottles below now are next year's allocation.
Tell us your quantity and timing, and we'll plan around the recovery.

A Story the Guest Opens

What comes to the table is not a bottle
but the record of a year.

A guest holds a phone to the bottle and sees its twelve months at sea.
They have read it for themselves, and the story told at the table carries weight.
